

Good Writing in Planning

- Persuasive stories are dependent upon their details
- We respond to what characters do
- The more actions are summarized, the more we see the story rather than discrete pieces of information

An underachiever finds success in a new line of work

